POETRY.

FOR THE KENTUCKY GAZETTE.

ORIGINAL.

Eternal God! where'er we gaze,
Thy works of greatness meet our eyes—
Whether the sun pours down his rays,
Or brilliant stars adorn the skies;
Thy still, thy own Almighty power
That guides the world or paints the flower;
That hurls the thunder bolt above,
Or wakes the music of the grove!

When conquerors move in victory's car
Triumphant o'er the battle field,
Thy ven'rous lights them to the war
And breaks the fearless sinner's shield
Or when the olive branch is given
To soften hearts that hate has riven
Thy mercy wakes the kneeling glow
That hails a friend, to every foe!

When from the ark, the homeless bird
Voyaged to seek a shelter'd shrine;
Above the waves to voice was heard
To guide its path, save only thine;
Thy patriarch took the wanderer home
And joyous look'd to Heaven's dark dome,
Thy mercy o'er the clouds thy hand had roll'd
The rainbow dipp'd to hues of gold.

The silver hair of helpless age,
The smiling child, fair Beauty's bloom
By thee are torn from life's dull page
And hurried to the tomb;
Yet the Archangel's awful tone
Shall call the sleepers to thy Throne,
While o'er the ruin'd earth shall shine
The sacred cross redemption's sign!

Almighty God, at that dread hour,
When ereiled by the host of heaven,
Viewing a world beneath thy power,
In utter desolation riven,
Or on the crowd before thine eyes,
Destin'd to pain or paradise;
Grant that our lips may join with those
Who pour the hymn to "Sharon's Rose."

THE ROSE.

In a far distant clime I have left a sweet rose,
A blossom unfolding its exquisite ray;
More lovely than morning's timidly glowing,
And fairer its blush than the rich bloom of May.
I fear that another summer may view it,
May steal it away from its fond parent stem;
That in absence, some fortunate lover may woo it,
And I sigh when I think of the beautiful gem.
To the shade where the dew-drops are laid to doirish,
On the wing of affection I'll hastily fly,
For what is there sweeter than fondly to nourish,
What is dear to the heart—what is fair to the eye.
Old days out of the bowers, sweet rose, till I come,
Hope whispering blossoms against shall survey;
My bosom, believe me, was formed for thy home—
O'er leave out thy bower, till it bears thee away.

ALBERT.

FOR THE KENTUCKY GAZETTE.

The following lines were written & recited at a meeting of a political Junta in Nicholasville styled the LA FAYETTE.

Who crossed the wide Atlantic main
To fight and bleed in freedom's cause;
And onward led her sons to gain
Their independence and their laws?

Who came from country, friends and home,
To give protection to the brave,
And round the brow of him torn,
Entwine the laurel and the wreath?

Who braved the winters of biting blast,
Undaunted by oppression stern;
And on the wild, winds dreary waste,
Bade lamps of liberty to burn!

Who immortal glory gained,
By patriotic deeds;
Who covered the temple of his fame
With everlasting needs!

LA FAYETTE! the great and good,
From foreign countries came;
He crossed the mighty oceans flood,
And gained immortal fame.

He reined the laurels round the brow
Of him who was oppressed;
Made forests yield to Freedom's plow,
And gave the weary rest.

May generations yet unborn,
Teach their rising babes his fame;
And when in slumbers they do form
May they with pride assume his name.

AMUSING.

YANKEE TRICK FOR AN ENGLISH ONE.

A little before the commencement of the late war between the United States and Britain, two Yankees on a trading trip, crossed over to Montreal, and putting at a public house, where a British recruiting officer was stationed. The Yankees, for convenience in that inclement season of the year, had hauled to their top coats, resembling those worn by women on their cloaks. Shortly after their arrival the officer, who had a wishful eye on them, watched his opportunity and dropped a guinea into the hood of one of their coats as bounty money, and unobserved by him; but which was fortunately seen by his companion who without being noticed communicated the secret to him. Presently after, the one who had a guinea, called for their bill, and on receiving it, put up his hand, and deliberately took out the guinea; and with apparent surprise exclaimed, "I have been robbed; for I had two guineas in the hood of my coat when I came into the house, and now I have but one." To which his companion replied, "I saw that gentleman (pointing to the officer) just now put his hand into the hood of your coat, and I saw him immediately challenged him for a thief, in presence of all his companions. His Britanic Majesty's officer, finding the situation in which he was placed, having two yankees to deal with, one to charge and the other as evidence to prove the fact, after a few moments, he proposed a compromise, and actually paid him twenty guineas on the spot, to get rid of his troublesome bargain."

"That is the smallest horse I ever saw," remarked a gentleman in mixed company—"Small!" said an Irish bystander, "why you call him small!" By St. Patrick, I have seen a horse as small as two of him!"

It was a good saying of Aristotle that "the great business of education should be to instruct youth in what will be of use to them in after life." Once for this maxim, warrents a course of Greek and Latin for young ladies in the United States.

It is better being confined in jail, sent to the county, than to let him know that he had a proposal to make, which he believed would be for their mutual benefit. The creditor called out to hear it. "I have been thinking," said the former, "that it is a very bad thing for me to lie here, and put you to the expense of one dollar and twenty-five cents per week, my being so chargeable to you has given me great uneasiness, for God knows what it may cost you in the end. Therefore, what I would propose is this, you shall let me out of jail, and allow me one dollar per week, and let the twenty-five cents go towards discharging the debt."

Disturbances between the Civil and Military Authorities.—The Arkansas Gazette, of February 25, says, "We regret to learn, that an unpleasant controversy has recently arisen between some of the citizens of Miller county, and the military stationed at Cantonment Towson, at the mouth of the Kiamichee, which has already produced considerable excitement on both sides, and it is feared, may result in serious consequences to the parties concerned. The circumstances of the affair, as related to us, are briefly these:—An officer of the Cantonment was indebted to a citizen, and a horse belonging to the former was levied on by a civil officer. Shortly afterwards the horse was rescued from the constable by a detachment from the Cantonment. The constable then called on the posse, recovered possession of the horse, took the soldiers into custody, and placed them in a guard house composed of citizens. A reinforced detachment of the first detachment, which was sent to the guard, the former charged on the latter, and the soldiers put to flight."

Thus the matter stood at our last advices. The citizens have sent over an express to the Acting Governor, calling for a redress of grievances, and the affair, it is supposed, will be terminated by a judicial investigation.—Ant. Journal.

PROPERTY RISING.

It is with real pleasure we announce this pleasing truth. There have been several sales of property lately at very fair prices, and in one instance at as high a price as in the best of times. Fifteen hundred dollars have been offered for a lot, which a few months since was offered for seven hundred and fifty, and would not bring it. In addition to which a gentleman well acquainted with the city, and who has taken pains to inform himself, tells us there are nearly one hundred houses now in the city, for which the materials are collecting, a much greater number than there has been before, at any one time, for five years past, and this number will be greatly increased as the season advances. In fact, labor, and every article used in building are advancing in price.—Patriot.

Lafayette Coats.

THE subscriber offers the above Coats to the public as a valuable improvement in that kind of garment. They are cut without either BACK or SIDE SEAMS in the body. By this improvement, the effects of the dust which settles in the seams, are completely avoided; by which means, they will last longer, and keep a better appearance than coats cut in the ordinary way. He has made several coats of the above kind, which have given general satisfaction to those who have examined and tried them. They set remarkably neat, and the finer the cloth, the more elegantly they can be made to fit. Frock coats, as well as dress coats, can be cut in this pattern with success. For Military Uniforms, it will be particularly suitable; and Ladies riding dresses will appear equally well, when cut by this mode. This is believed to be the first time that this mode of cutting coats has been used in the Western Country.

FOR SALE.

A Valuable ESTATE in Land and Negroes.

THE tract of land on which I reside in the county of Jessamine, containing eight hundred and sixty-three acres principally inclosed and not surpassed by any in Kentucky, in soil. There are about three hundred and fifty acres of the tract in cultivation, the balance finely timbered. Its situation admits of a handsome division either into two or three tracts and would be sold in divisions to accommodate purchasers. It is admirably calculated for stock raising, or any other agricultural pursuit.

AN excellent site for a DISTILLERY, supplied by a never failing stream upon which one has been conducted for many years.

I would also sell a likely young negroes, ten of whom are men and boys accustomed to, and capable of performing farming business. Four of the boys have been during the last year engaged in a bagging factory. The residue of the negroes are likely women, girls, and children. The purchaser may also obtain with the premises a valuable stock of

Brood Mares & Colts
Cattle, sheep & hogs,
a distillery with its apparatus capable of making a barrel of Whiskey per day to

Together with the present crop of about 150 acres of corn, with rye, oats, and hay, also the farming utensils. But little is hazarded in the assertion that a more valuable real estate, slaves, and personal property has seldom been offered for sale in this country. The whole would be exchanged for United States stock or sold at its reasonable value upon terms of mutual advantage.

New Invention.

A LONG the numerous kinds of useful inventions that have recently appeared before the public, the subscriber would introduce that of nothing SPIRITUOUS LIQUORS, on an improved plan, both as it regards fuel and labour. So much so, that I will warrant a saving of one half of the fuel, and one third of the labour which is consumed in the old ways of distilling. Still made in this way do not burn the spirits, and can be made to any size, to make from one to six barrels of whiskey in a day. Persons feeling disposed to purchase rights in individuals, or for a county, of the above invention, will please call at the Union Mills, Jessamine county where they can see stills on that plan in successful operation, making upwards of ONE HUNDRED GALLONS a day. Should they wish to purchase rights, Mr. David Crozier the Union Mills is authorized to sell them. The following certificates from gentlemen who have erected the stills and tried the plan, are offered to the public.

DAVID CUTLER,

Inventor and patentee.

January 20, 1825—3—tf.

Having purchased the patent right of Mr David Cutler, on a new plan of distillation, and having had a fair trial on the subject, I have no hesitation in stating it has far exceeded my expectation both in saving fuel and labour. I state further it exceeds anything I have ever seen. Given under my hand this 8th day of January 1825: A. YOUNG.

DEAR SIR:

After having a fair trial of your improved plan of distilling, I feel it my duty to state to the public that it far exceeds any thing of the kind I know of as it respects fuel, labour, and convenience. The product of the grain appears to be better, and the spirit purer, than that made in the ordinary mode. Given under my hand, this 17th day of January 1825: Nicholasville:

JOSEPH H. CHRISMAN.

MR. DAVID CUTLER:

Having fully tested by experiment an improved plan of Distillery by Steam Invented by Mr. D. Cutler, I hesitate not to say, that it is far superior in point of economy both of Labour and Fuel to any plan I have ever seen, and believe the Spirit made in this way is equal to any now made in this state.
